Please share any additional options for one-time or short-term use of the school emergency relief funds to address learning and social, emotional, behavioral recovery due to the impact of COVID-19.

- Counseling is a must.
- Extra in class support teachers to aide in behavioral issues.
- more in classroom support/ classroom library & furniture
- High dosage tutoring. A lot of good research showing its success.
- Incorporate a school wide art project expressing social/ emotional learning in a mural.
- Students during the 2021-2022 thus far need assistance interacting with one another and need to learn how to respond to certain situations that involve them or do not involve them. A lot of behavioral issues are arising and interrupting instruction during key concepts and standards creating even more of a impact on their learning. Students also need support at home to promote learning and student engagement.
- Staffed Guidance Counselor
- Provide before and after school activities and more personalized instruction.
- Provide supportive counseling to those who are struggling academically.
- Yes I think it should all those things in one for the children
- Individual progression
- Access to resources and service for social emotional learning, resilience interventions and counseling & therapeutic support
- Sanitization

- Hire more teachers/ special education teachers / case workers, to give struggling students the individual attention that they need. Expand the special education department to more than 2 teachers, quickly classify students that need special needs services, students that may need to attend a special education school, as a result of a learning disability, refer to doctor or specialist if necessary.
- It would be nice for you guys to have more after school/summer activities also to have a special Education program
- A computer literacy class for parents.
